Chapter One

Surprise, Surprise!

Cat made an appointment with her doctor at the private woman's clinic she had used for several years to confirm the positive test results and get a thorough examination, given the new circumstances. Of course, Sam, Caitlin, and Maddie went with her. She needed their love and support and they were eager to help her.

Cat's doctor was a woman who understood Cat's lifestyle, although she was not aware of her new living arrangements. Dr. Collins was also bisexual and lived with a partner of her own whom she had married. Cat trusted her and felt comfortable under her care. Her practice was well-managed, and her patients loved her. It was she whom the three girls had seen previously when they went for their checkups. It surprised her to see them again so soon. Cat went with the nurse into the exam room after a short wait. Maddie and Caitlin went with her. Sam remained in the waiting room.

"Hello, ladies," she greeted them, "what brings you back so soon?"

Cat explained, "I have not been feeling well lately, occasional nausea, especially in the morning, and new feelings in my tummy. I also missed my last period." Dr. Collins was checking her blood pressure, heartbeat, and temperature as she talked. "I think I might be pregnant and want you to check me out. I took an early pregnancy test, and it came back positive."

"I see," said the doctor. "How is your sex life these days?"

Cat smiled, "Very good, to say the least. The three of us live with Sam, and he is a wonderful man and a great lover. We girls also love each other and are very close."

Caitlin took one of her hands and Maddie took the other one. Dr. Collins could see they were in love. She smiled, gave Cat a urine cup and directed her to the bathroom. While she was getting her sample, she asked Caitlin and Maddie if they were having any problems. They told her they were fine. Caitlin returned.

"How long has it been since your last period, Catherine?" she asked.

"About five weeks," Cat answered.

"How long ago do you think it might have happened?"

"I don't know precisely, but I would guess it happened almost two months ago. I have not been feeling my best for just over a week," Cat answered. "I thought I might just have a tummy ache or something such as that."

"The technician is testing your sample and should let us know the results in just a few minutes. Meanwhile, I am going to draw some blood and test that sample as well, just to be sure."

The tech entered and gave the results to the doctor. "Thank you, Karin. Take this blood sample to the lab, please and have them test it immediately." She did.

The doctor opened the urine test results. "This test is also positive. Your hCG level is off the chart, Catherine. We won't know for a while, but you might be carrying twins."

"Twins?" Cat almost fainted. Maddie and Caitlin showed their complete delight.

"Am I correct in assuming the gentleman who came with you is the father?"

"Yes," Cat told her, "there has been no other man for quite some time, so unless Caitlin and Maddie have developed super powers, Sam is the one." They all lightened up at her joke.

"He should be told. I'll go get him," Dr. Collins said. She left for a moment and returned with Sam.

"Congratulations, Sam, we are awaiting the results of the blood test, but the urine test came back positive, very positive. Her hormone level is very high, somewhat indicative that she may be carrying twins."

"Twins?" Sam had to sit down at that news. "Twins?"

“Of course, we won’t be sure for some time, but she is above the level that many times indicates multiple fetuses.” There was a knock at the door. The tech came in the room and gave the doctor the results of the blood tests. A big smile came to her face. “Catherine, you are definitely pregnant, and this test also indicates a very high level of the hCG hormone. I am very happy to be your doctor. She gave Cat a big hug. Karin will give you some information on diet and things you should and should not do. I want to see you again in two weeks and we will check how you are doing. Do you have any questions?”

“Yes,” Cat replied, “can I still have sex?”

“Yes, certainly. You are not far enough along yet to limit your sexual activity.”

“May I travel by air?”

“Yes, again.”

“Should I avoid alcohol?”

“Yes, you should, especially if you are having twins.”

She reflected quietly for a moment. “My life is going to change in a big way.”

“Ours, too,” Sam, “but in a wonderful way.” He kissed her.

“I see your rings. Would you tell me about your relationship?” Dr. Collins asked. “I ask because I need to know as much about you as possible, Cat, so I can guide you through your pregnancy.”

“We all live together and have formally committed to each other. Sam and Caitlin married recently and we all plan to have children with him as time goes by. Caitlin offered to have their marriage annulled, if I wanted to marry my children’s father. They are so good together and have been in love for some time, long before Maddie and I came along, so I declined. We are planning to raise all our children together as a family.”

“I see. Will finances be an issue?” she asked Sam.

“No,” he said simply.

“If you need anything else, give me a call, and I will see you again, Catherine, in two weeks.” She shook their hands and left the room. As they left, Cat received the information the doctor had mentioned, and they drove back to the lake. Although the test results gave them quite a shock, they were very happy at their prospects for the future.

Cat reviewed the information she had on her pregnancy while they drove home. “What’s in there?” Caitlin asked.

“A lot about diet,” she said, “I have to feed these babies, and should eat about three hundred calories more each day in a balanced diet, fiber, vegetables, protein, and foods with lots of calcium. They recommend prenatal vitamins as well, which are available at nutrition centers or online. No prescription needed.”

“We can do that,” Sam said.

“Thank you for going with me to the doctor,” she said. “I was glad to have you all there. Now that we are sure, I feel different. I am carrying at least one real person inside me. It is quite a responsibility. I am very happy and feeling my emotions more than ever.”

“I envy you, Cat,” Maddie said as she gave her a hug in the backseat. “I want to be next.”

“I must warn you all, there is another side effect to being pregnant,” Cat related.

“Would that be what I think it might be?” Sam asked grinning at her.

“Yes, Sam. You and Caitlin and Maddie are in for some intense loving. My horniness level has at least quadrupled. Why do you think I asked the doctor about having sex?”

“This could get very interesting,” Caitlin observed. “We will be careful, especially later, but Sam has an option for that wonderful cock of his and Maddie and I know what to do to protect our baby and new mother to be.”

“No more gin martinis for a while, Maddie,” Cat said.

“You won’t need them girlfriend,” Maddie answered. “You are with people who love you now.”

As they drove down the long driveway, Cat felt something come over her. The reality of the situation finally hit her. Upstairs with her family, she let it out, "I am going to have a baby!"

"Or two," returned Sam. "Are you happy?"

"Yes, Sam. Yes, Caitlin. Yes, Maddie. I am ecstatic. It all hit me at once. We are here together, you all love me, and Sam, you have given me a child, you incredibly fertile man. This is the high point of my life. I am so happy!" She embraced all three one at a time. "Let's go to bed."

They all laughed. "I am totally serious," she said. "I want as much sex and loving from all of you as I can get while I can get it."

"No more going past your cervix, though, right?"

"That is what got me in this condition to begin with," she joked.

"The embryos are attached to your uterine wall at this point, and we must take care, all of us," he cautioned.

"Then do me in the ass, my dear. That shouldn't affect them."

"Deal," said Sam.

"Let's all do her together," Caitlin suggested. "Let's give our baby mama the most wonderful sexual experience she has ever had."

"She deserves it," Sam said as he embraced her and kissed her deeply.

The girls did the same thing. They led her to the bedroom and deposited her on the bed. Instead of undressing her, they undressed each other, slowly and sensuously while she watched. Cat was oozing copiously at their display. Maddie and Caitlin got on the bed beside her completely nude and touched her in all the right places. Cat loved their attention. As Sam watched from the foot of the bed, they removed one piece of her clothing after another until they were lying together skin to skin. Caitlin kissed her. Maddie sucked her nipples and stimulated her breasts. Cat's nipples got hard and long under her caress. Caitlin reached down between Cat's legs and found her engorged clitoris, rubbing it tenderly. Maddie found the opening to her vagina and slipped a finger into her. Cat was responding to them as she never had before. Her hormones were raging.

Maddie kissed the inside of her thighs, moving from just above her knees closer and closer to her honey pot. Her tongue found Cat's clitoris, making her moan with pleasure. Caitlin kneeled just above Cat's head and kissed her as she reached for her breasts. The two girls were driving her into a sexual frenzy. She exploded in her orgasm quickly as she responded to Maddie and Caitlin. Maddie had done as much as she could do and moved away from Cat.

"Don't stop," she told them. "Do it again."

Caitlin and Maddie changed places with Caitlin between Cat's legs. As soon as her mouth contacted her down there, Cat started moaning again and pulled Caitlin's head to her, holding on tightly where she wanted her to be. Cat spread her legs farther apart, so Caitlin could have full access to her pussy and clit, two parts of her body that Caitlin loved. She coated two fingers with Cat's natural lubricant and made little circles around her asshole, pressing more firmly as she went. Cat pushed back against her, loving the feelings she was having. Caitlin could feel the rising heat in her lover and knew she was close. She took her over the top when she pushed her fingers deep inside Cat and stretched her even more. Caitlin pulled her fingers back and inserted a third one. Cat began thrashing from side to side. Caitlin slid her tongue into her pussy, taking care to maintain contact with her clit while she fucked Cat with her fingers. She came again, flooding Caitlin's mouth with her excretions. She swallowed it all and kept doing what she was doing. Cat came again after a brief time to catch her breath. Caitlin felt Sam beside her and saw his massive erection. She pulled away from her lover as Sam directed her to turn Cat over.

He had seen Caitlin stretch her out and knew she was ready for him. He didn't wait.

With his strong arms, he lifted her to her knees, putting her at just the right height for him to take her. He plunged into her, burying his entire marvelous cock in her ass, making her groan, and let out a muffled scream. Sam knew she liked rough sex, and he wanted to make sure she got just what she wanted. She was the woman carrying his child. She deserved to be happy in every way. He pushed her down on the bed and, supporting himself on his forearms, fucked her ass as energetically as he could. Her muscles gripped him tightly as she held on to the bed covers and rose again to an orgasm. This one would be anal, and she loved that. Her passion had drastically increased as her body dealt with the hormones that raged within her due to her pregnancy. Sam was close to his own orgasm after watching Maddie and Caitlin do their thing to her. She came. He felt it. He pushed into her once again and just stayed there, buried deep within her. She milked his cock, making him cum with her.

He pumped so much cum in her, she felt like he was urinating. His cum filled her even though her colon had much more capacity than her vagina. She tightened around him and the cum flowed out around his cock. Caitlin and Maddie couldn't believe how much there was as they watched. At last, he had no more to give her. She had taken everything he could give. He lay there with his lovers, still inside Cat. Her muscles continued to tighten and loosen around him. Finally, she relaxed, and he rolled over beside her and put his arm around her back. Neither Sam, nor Caitlin, nor Maddie had any idea where her mind was, it was clear she was in another place. They moved her onto her back and kissed her, one by one. They brought her back to them.

"What happened?" she asked Sam.

“We all three made love to you, and you went somewhere else,” he replied.

“If sex is always going to be like that while I am pregnant, I will just stay pregnant forever,” she told them. “That was wonderful, no beyond wonderful. I have never felt that way ever before.”

“You seemed to be in another world, Cat,” Caitlin said, “where did you go?”

“I went to a beautiful place that I have never seen before. Of course, you were all there. It was outside and lovely. I saw flowers, birds flying around, and butterflies.

“Sounds wonderful,” said Maddie.

“It was,” Cat continued. “There were children there, many children. They were playing together and having a wonderful time. My reverie ended only when I saw stars in the middle of the day and soared above the entire scene. It was magical.”

“Were they our children?” Maddie asked.

“Yes, dear Maddie, they were ours,” Cat answered.

“I saw our twins, one girl and one boy, playing together and helping take care of their siblings. I saw your children, loving life with their brothers and sisters. In the middle of the scene stood Sam, smiling, and holding them, knowing he was their father.”

“What happened then?” Caitlin asked.

“The whole scene went away, and I was back here with you, where I wanted to be, because I wanted to take you all with me to that special place. I came back to get you.”

“We will always be with you, my love,” Sam assured her.

“Yes, we will,” Caitlin added.

“Sam, I want you to make me pregnant,” said Maddie. “I want to go there with Cat.”

“And you will, my dear Maddie,” he promised.

“When,” she asked.

“Everyone is different,” he said, “from what I understand, some women get pregnant immediately, some may take much longer.”

“I have no idea what happened to me,” Cat told her. “I may have gotten a bad package of pills, or something like that. Besides, pregnancy doesn’t affect everyone the same way. My sex drive has increased, yours may not.”

“The intensity of the session we just had undoubtedly had something to do with the trip you took,” Sam pointed out. “All three of us took you in rapid succession.”

“I had no idea what was going on after Maddie got me off until I realized Sam had cum in me,” she confessed, “I was in that other place with stars exploding in the daytime sky.”

“I took over from Maddie because you wanted more,” Caitlin told her. “Then we rolled you onto your tummy and Sam pounded your ass until he flooded you with his cum.”

“Sounds delicious, wish I had been there,” she laughed.

“You were right where you should have been, my lover,” Sam told her.

“I think I am recovering,” Cat realized. “I am going to want more later.”

Her three lovers smiled at each other. They suspected as much.

“Let’s make sure you are all right first,” Sam’s voice of reason suggested. “We were not gentle with you, especially me.”

“I am a little sore,” she admitted. “I can wait awhile, but don’t you guys wait on me.”

They didn’t.

Chapter Two

Preparations

The answer to the question about remodeling the house became obvious when Cat discovered she was pregnant and Maddie desired to have a child of her own. Sam counted cars and determined they would need at least twelve bays in the new garage. He added two more for good measure and included an expanded shop area. It would be a two-story structure with educational facilities upstairs and plenty of room for other purposes. He also, with the help of the girls, made a rough sketch of the pool and spa area. Maddie used her skills to render a drawing of what they wanted. Designing the lower floor of the current house was more difficult. They would need two suites including living space, bathrooms, kitchens, and entertainment facilities. He decided to acquire the services of an architect for the projects and left the design to their team.

Maddie stopped taking her birth control pills immediately. Cat's pregnancy had changed her mind about waiting.

The trip to New York City was delightful for them all. Sam hired a private jet for them and they traveled in style on the Gulfstream. He didn't mention that he had an interest in the company that ran the service. They stayed in an excellent hotel near both the financial district and Broadway. They ate great food and saw the sights, including a couple of shows, and met with Sam's financial advisors. He made sure to provide for the girls and their children in case something happened to him or Cat. Their advisor turned out to be a woman who understood and accepted their lifestyle. They came home exhausted, but in great spirits. Cat didn't even have much morning sickness on the trip. In fact, she felt great. The only problem they had was in finding a bed big enough for the four of them.

When they got back to the lake house, the work on the pool and spa had already begun. Excavation had ended, and the materials were on site. The next phase was building the new garage, designed as an attachment to the house. Sam had specified solar heat for the floor and conversion to alternative energy for the entire complex with backup from the existing grid. The design of the new garage addition suited them all, but construction had not yet begun.

They were glad to be back home for another reason. New York had been intense, and their sex lives had been mostly cuddling and sleeping together. There was very little sex, much to Maddie's chagrin. The trip was part honeymoon and part financial. At least they all came away with an understanding of their assets and Sam's portfolio. Cat's assets valuation completed the financial picture. The advisor had updated her net worth along with Sam's. The advisors recommended keeping their assets separate as she and Sam had decided earlier. Together, they had accumulated just over one hundred million dollars. Neither of them had any idea it was that much. The two investment groups began to work together.

Cat didn't really care. She was pregnant, and that was what mattered most to her. She went back to see Dr. Collins at the appropriate time and took Maddie with her. Caitlin stayed with Sam. She wanted to talk with him when they were alone.

"Sam," she got his attention, "I am concerned about something."

"What is on your mind, my sweet?" he replied.

"When Cat and Maddie are both pregnant with your children, what is going to happen to me? Do I need to get pregnant too?"

Sam took her in his arms and kissed her tenderly. "You are my wife, Caitlin. You will be my wife forever."

She shed a tear. "I am so glad you feel that way, my love. I could not bear to lose you."

"You are not going to lose me, dear one," he assured her. "You do not have to have my baby to keep me loving you. I will love you forever."

“I want to have children with you, Sam, just not right now, do you understand where I’m coming from?” she explained.

“Yes, dear Caitlin, I understand,” he assured her. “I get the feeling that is not what is troubling you, however. What’s going through that pretty mind of yours?”

“This may be selfish of me, but I do not want to lose either of them to their children. Will we still be four together? And what happens when the children get older and realize that their mom and dad are not married to each other that he is married to me?”

“We are breaking new ground, I will admit, at least for us. Yes, they will be busy with their kids, but there will still be time for the four of us. Kids must sleep, you know.”

“What happens when you and I decide to have a child?” she asked.

“We will be parents,” he said simply. “How do you think couples have four or five children? I promise you our intimacy will not end, no matter how many kids we have.”

“This is all so new to me, Sam.”

“I know, Caitlin, it’s new to me, too. We will get through it together that I promise. When Cat and Maddie have children, there will be more time for just us. I would like that.”

“I would too,” she kissed him. “Take me to bed, Sam. Make passionate love to me. It has been too long.”

“Yes, it has, my dear. We have been concerned with other things.”

“Will you take me away soon, just the two of us, to somewhere exotic and romantic?” she asked him.

“Yes, Europe, the South Pacific, anywhere you want to go. Cat and Maddie can stay here and oversee the construction projects while we are away. When do you want to go?”

“When Maddie gets pregnant,” she answered. “I know you love them, but you are my husband and I need to be with you, just the two of us, for a while. Can we do that?”

“Yes, my love. We must take time for the two of us.”

“Oh, Sam, I love you so much.”

He picked her up and carried her back to the bedroom in his arms, the way she loved so much. She hugged him around the neck and kissed him all the way.

Sex with Caitlin that afternoon was like something he had never experienced with her before. The difference was their deep love for each other. To him, it was all about her. Before, it had always been about him. She was the most important thing in his life. Yes, his lover, Cat, was going to have his baby or babies, and he loved her, but he loved Caitlin uniquely. They were soulmates and he could not imagine being without her. Their love for each other guided them both in their love making and he wanted her to know how deeply he was in love with her. With Caitlin, he was both tender and ruthless and could sense what she wanted from him. She knew him and what he wanted as well. They were a perfect match.

He did not put her down on the bed. He put her on her feet, standing so he could look at her face to face, and lifted her chin so tenderly. Her eyes were bright with anticipation and he lowered his head to kiss her. As his lips met hers, she closed her eyes and melted into his strong arms.

“I love you, Caitlin, more than I have ever loved anyone or anything in my life. You are my life’s partner, my wife, and I want to make you happy. That is why I married you. That is why I took care of you for all those years. That is why I was always the gentleman with you. I have loved you for so long, and now we are together. He kissed her again. They were together, alone, for the first time in a long time.

“I know you love Cat and Maddie and that they are counting on you to father their children, and I love them too, but we have found each other at last. Do what you want to do with them, it is okay with me, but Sam, you have made my dreams come true and I want to be with you forever.

“As much as I love Cat and want to make Maddie’s dreams come true if I can, you are my love and my wife and partner forever, dear Caitlin, if you will have me. I want no one else but you to live my life with.”

“That is what I want too, Sam,” she said. “Make love to me, as lovers do.”

“Kiss me, my dear Caitlin, I love you so much.”

“He laid her down on the bed and moved in beside her. They embraced and kissed, passionately this time as their souls met and greeted each other. The two truly became one.

Sam was in no hurry. He kissed and caressed her as he undressed her with gentle, loving hands, causing her to relax in his arms. Her eyes were deep, blue pools into which he could lose himself as they gazed at each other. His kisses started at her forehead. Her eyes closed, and he kissed each of them, then her cheeks, nose, and her lips. He trailed kisses down her neck to her firm breasts and engorged nipples, making her moan deeply. She put her hands at the back of his head and pulled him closer as he sucked and nibbled and urged him down farther on her quivering body. Her hands pulled him into the “V” at the top of her legs and he buried his head between her thighs as she spread them wider. She loved having him go down on her and was not disappointed. Her warm, wetness engulfed him as he pushed his long tongue past her pussy lips and into her vagina. She was gushing.

Sam paused for a moment to remove his shirt and jeans before resuming his place between her legs. “Give me a taste of my juices on your lips, Sam,” she asked of him.

He moved up to kiss her and obliged, giving her a taste of herself. “I love the way you taste, my love,” he said. She cleaned his lips and mouth with her tongue as she tasted the honey nectar he was giving her.

“Thank you for that,” she responded as she reached down for his cock. It was erect and pulsing in anticipation and sexual excitement. "I want this, now."

"Very happy to comply," he answered as he shifted his position beside her to look her directly in the eyes. "I love it when you touch me, my dear, precious Caitlin. Keep doing it while I tell you a little story, ok?"

"Yes, lover. What is it about?"

"It is about a man who fell in love with a fifteen-year-old girl. He knew she was too young for him. She was still in high school. He had his own life to live but found ways to be with her as much as possible."

"Do I know these people?" she grinned as she kept doing what she was doing to him.

"You may know them," he kidded back. "Other women came and went in his life, but he could never find one who loved him for who he was. They all wanted what he could give them, financially and physically."

"He must have been very rich with a huge cock," she said.

"He was both."

"What happened to the girl?" she asked.

"She became one of the main interests in his life. He wanted her to succeed and find herself. More than anything, he wanted her to be happy. He never could forget that she would grow up someday and not be a girl anymore. He was the perfect gentleman with her in every way even though, as she grew into womanhood, she drove him crazy."

"How did she feel about him," she asked. Her hands were making him respond increasingly as they talked.

"He thought she liked him, but she never made any overtures to him except for some innocent flirting and he was certainly not going to make a move on her, even after she turned eighteen."

"She hid her feelings well, then?" she assumed.

"Yes, very well, but both could feel the attraction between them," he explained. "He loved her, was very proud of her, and knew she would be fine on her own."

“Did they ever get together, Sam?” she wanted to know how he was going to end his story.

Yes, with the help of, unbelievably, two of his girlfriends. The three of them had an exciting and loving life together, but he couldn't get his young girlfriend out of his mind. He arranged for them to meet her and they hit it off immediately. They became a foursome, but although he loved all three, his feelings for the young girl he had loved for years were undeniable. He realized she was the one.

He paused.

She took her hands off his cock and embraced him.

“That, my dear Sam, is why I love you so much. You see, I have loved you long as you have loved me, and even deeper. I would have given myself to you when we first met, I have known from the start,” she told him. “Would you do something for me, Sam?”

“Anything, my precious, anything,” he promised.

“This may seem strange to you, but we have a love that transcends sex. It is wonderful, but our love comes from much deeper in the soul.”

“Yes, my dear, it does,” he agreed. “What is it that you want me to do?”

“Let's imagine ourselves together shortly after we met. Let's do those things we didn't do then. I wanted you to hold me, Sam. I imagined myself in your arms, not having sex, just being close and sharing our love together, sharing our warmth, feelings, and dreams. I want you to hold me for a while, just hold me and tell me how much you love me.”

“I love you more every day, my darling Caitlin, and will for all the time that the good Lord gives me breath. Your wanting to just be held and to be beside me makes me love you even more.”

Their embrace was warm and close. It lasted a long time. It was erotic for them both as evidenced by the continued wetness between Caitlin's legs and the rigidity of Sam's cock.

“I have never been loved like this before, dear Caitlin. I am so glad it worked out for us. Marrying you is the highlight of my life. I love you more than anything and we are, and will always be, very happy together,” he said as he kissed her tenderly. “Always be with me, my dear.”

“I will, Sam, that is my promise to you. I will love you in every way and do all I can to make you happy,” she promised as she moved her hands back to his erect penis and began to massage him again. He groaned at her touch. “Thanks for the story, my love. Let’s go back to when we first met and began to fall in love with each other. We can do now what we couldn’t do then.”

Without a word, but with a big smile he moved over her as she spread her legs for him. He settled on his elbows as their hips came together and she took him in her hand and directed him to the opening of her vagina. She moved him up and down her soaking pussy slit and positioned him so that she could move to take him into her. He pushed forward gently as he gazed into her eyes and she closed them and moaned in pleasure. He took her in a loving, caring way. She opened her eyes again to look at him and communicate her unreserved love. She reacted to him as he pushed deeper into her and took the time to feel the response of her vaginal muscles. They were very active around him. When he thrust gently all the way in, her eyes closed again, and she responded to his love-making. He kissed her as he made love to her in his powerful but gentle manner. She loved what he was doing to her even more than when he was just fucking her.

“I love you, Caitlin, and I want to spend my life with you,” his voice was quiet and sincere. She began to cry from the wonderful things he was doing to her body and from knowing that her dreams had come true. She was his lover, his life partner, and his wife. Her emotions could not hide the rising feeling deep inside of her. Her climax was building.

Sam felt it too. He did not try to control himself or do anything that didn't come naturally to them both. He just tried to feel what was happening to them and enjoy the sensations, no tricks, no other stimuli, just two lovers making love together. He felt his own love for her overflowing his soul as he got nearer and nearer to his own sexual peak. Her muscles and his erection were doing all they needed. The love they had together added intensity and sparkle to joining as man and woman. It would happen naturally this time.

Sam came first. He throbbed strongly inside her and felt his cum as it filled her. The clenching of his cock and the feeling of the stream of cum he deposited in her made Caitlin cum with him. She gripped him with an iron vise around his wonderful cock. She took his second load gratefully, but his third made her cum again. He kept moving inside her until they were both totally satisfied and fell together in an embrace. They held tight to each other as they felt the passion of their love-making begin to recede.

"I love you, Sam," Caitlin said.

"I love you, too, dear Caitlin. It all worked out, didn't it?"

"Yes, it did, my sweet, and I am so glad. My dream has come true."

"Mine has too, dear one. I am so glad."

As she agreed with him, they heard the Hellcat drive up to the house.

"I guess Maddie and Cat are back," Caitlin sounded disappointed. "Should we get up and meet them?"

"They will know where to find us, my love," Sam answered. "Let's stay together here long as we can."

Caitlin wrapped herself around him again and held him close.

Chapter Three

A Change of Plans

Cat and Maddie exited the elevator calling out for Caitlin and Sam. They got no answer. They shared a knowing smile.

"We both know where they are," said Cat, "and what they are doing."

They both snickered and headed for the bedroom.

"We're back," shouted Maddie. Still no answer.

The bedroom door was open, and they both went inside.

"There you are," Cat said as she saw them under the sheet wrapped in each other's arms.

"We're not home, go away," Caitlin told them.

"Ah, now isn't that sweet, they are in bed, embracing, and don't want company," Maddie observed. "Well, that's too bad." She and Cat both jumped in the bed, Cat behind Caitlin, and Maddie next to Sam.

"He is mine, and you can't have him," Caitlin teased them.

"How do you feel about that, Sam," Cat rejoined.

"I'm hers and nothing will ever keep us apart," Sam continued the tease.

"Ah, shucks," Cat answered, "and just when we have such good news."

"What kind of good news?" Sam asked her.

"If you two will come up for air for a while, we'll tell you," Maddie answered.

"Oh, all right," Caitlin loosened her grip on Sam, turned and rolled over on her back, so she could see them both. "What did Dr. Collins have to say?"

"Since I have all the symptoms of having a twin pregnancy, she wanted to do an ultrasound. I am at seven weeks, not five she said, and she thought she might find indicators that could confirm her suspicions of multiple fetuses. There would be no heartbeats or other indicators, but she might be able to resolve the amniotic sacs, and if
