Mr. Bump was running very fast. He was late for school. He was late for his lesson. He was late for his class. He was late for his teacher. He was late for his friends. He was late for his family. He was late for his home. He was late for his bed. He was late for his breakfast. He was late for his lunch. He was late for his dinner. He was late for his bath. He was late for his bedtime. He was late for his morning. He was late for his afternoon. He was late for his evening. He was late for his night. He was late for his day. He was late for his week. He was late for his month. He was late for his year. He was late for his life. He was late for his world. He was late for his universe. He was late for his everything.
