Integrated Primary Care

About the Authors

Barbara Cubic, PhD, has been recognized as a trailblazer for integrated primary care. She has spent her career advocating for psychologists to work in primary care settings and has trained and mentored hundreds of other professionals to do so. In 2010, she was awarded the PSYCHE prize by the American Psychological Foundation for her work in integrated primary care. She has also been awarded the Outstanding Contributions to Clinical Health Psychology award from the Society of Health Psychology of the American Psychological Association in 2014 and the Ivan Mensch Award for Distinguished Achievement in Teaching by the Association of Psychologist in Academic Health Centers in 2017.

Ruben Tinajero, PhD, is a clinical health psychologist in the Department of Family Medicine at West Virginia University. He completed his doctoral training at the University of Utah and internship training at the University of Kansas Medical Center. Dr. Tinajero contributes to the training of WVU family medicine residents and medical school students and supervises doctoral practicum students and psychology interns. His primary research interests are in stress science and sleep research.

Advances in Psychotherapy – Evidence-Based Practice

Series Editor

Danny Wedding, PhD, MPH, Professor Emeritus, University of Missouri–Saint Louis, MO

Associate Editors

Jonathan S. Comer, PhD, Professor of Psychology and Psychiatry, Director of Mental Health Interventions and Technology (MINT) Program, Center for Children and Families, Florida International University, Miami, FL

Kenneth E. Freedland, PhD, Professor of Psychiatry and Psychology, Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis, MO

J. Kim Penberthy, PhD, ABPP, Professor of Psychiatry & Neurobehavioral Sciences, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, VA

Linda C. Sobell, PhD, ABPP, Professor, Center for Psychological Studies, Nova Southeastern University, Ft. Lauderdale, FL

The basic objective of this series is to provide therapists with practical, evidence-based treatment guidance for the most common disorders seen in clinical practice – and to do so in a reader-friendly manner. Each book in the series is both a compact “how-to” reference on a particular disorder for use by professional clinicians in their daily work and an ideal educational resource for students as well as for practice-oriented continuing education.

The most important feature of the books is that they are practical and easy to use: All are structured similarly and all provide a compact and easy-to-follow guide to all aspects that are relevant in real-life practice. Tables, boxed clinical “pearls,” marginal notes, and summary boxes assist orientation, while checklists provide tools for use in daily practice.

Continuing Education Credits

Psychologists and other healthcare providers may earn five continuing education credits for reading the books in the Advances in Psychotherapy series and taking a multiple-choice exam. This continuing education program is a partnership of Hogrefe Publishing and the National Register of Health Service Psychologists. Details are available at <https://www.hogrefe.com/us/cenatreg>

The National Register of Health Service Psychologists is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. The National Register maintains responsibility for this program and its content.

Acknowledgments

Our experiences in primary care have strengthened us both personally and professionally. We would like to thank our patients, their families, and the many providers we have had the pleasure of working with in primary care. We would also like to thank our many psychology mentors and the psychology trainees who have trusted us to teach them to operate effectively as psychologists in primary care settings.

Barbara would also like to thank her husband, Bill Adams, and her two beautiful daughters, Sarah and Emily, who inspire her daily to be a better person and psychologist. She would like to thank her sister, Susan Supinger, for always being her biggest cheerleader. And, most of all, she would like to thank her father, Ray May, and paternal grandmother, Hancie May, for teaching her the value of education and the importance of being a caring and compassionate person. She also wants to acknowledge the impact her mentors had on her personal and professional life – most notably, Danny Wedding, Don Williamson, and Judy Beck.

Ruben would like to thank his parents, Ruben C. Tinajero and Hilda A. Tinajero, for a lifetime of love and support. He would also like to thank his wonderful wife, Amber, and beautiful daughter, Lila, who have served as sources of motivation for him each day. He wants, as well, to extend his gratitude to his mentors Paula G. Williams, Katherine T. Fortenberry, Timothy W. Smith, and Annette L. Stanton. Lastly, he would like to thank his late aunt, Alma Rosa Arroyo Navarro, who inspired him to achieve his academic dreams.
