What I came to realise is that it's never just one inventor behind one invention. Each invention starts off as an idea, and each person along the way contributes to improve it.

So I wrote this book to give you a behind-the-scenes look at the enterprising nature of inventors and show you how, when one thing leads to another... everything is connected.

Children like you are the inventors of tomorrow. This book is an invitation to put that brilliant brain of yours to good use and start thinking up some wondrous ideas of your own. Good luck!
