For my tribe

An intellect great enough to win the prize needs other food besides success.

The remoter and more general aspects of the law are those which give it universal interest.

It is through them that you not only become a great master in your calling, but connect your subject with the universe and catch an echo of the infinite, a glimpse of its unfathomable process, a hint of the universal law.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, The Path of the Law

Acknowledgments

It would be impossible to address each person whose encouragement and support accompanied me throughout the process of writing this thesis individually, but I appreciate the opportunity to specifically thank the following persons:

Prof. Dr. Susan Emmenegger, my doctor–mother, who guided and supported the development of my work with exemplary diligence and dedication in a manner that one could only wish for.

Prof. Dr. Cyrill Rigamonti, whose valued review inspired the direction taken in my thesis.

Prof. Dr. Stephen Berti, for his positive attitude and unique brand of sponsorship. My wife, Diane Reinhard-DeRoo, for courageously defending her mother tongue against my barbarian attacks, but most importantly for believing in me for the past 24 years.

I also thank the following professionals, academics, and mentors for their time and encouragement:

Joerg Arnold, Nadine Balkanyi-Nordmann, Esq., Mary Donahue, Esq., Christopher Freeze, Esq., Larry Dickstein, Maja Dove, Esq., Thomas Plattner, Dr. Tom Fischer, Esq., Dr. Hanspeter Marti, Dr. Sigmund Tur, Dr. Klaus von Matt, and Matthias Wuersch.

I would also like to thank the Julius Library of New York University for graciously granting me access to their endlessly valuable resources, and to Anke Seyfried and the team from Springer Publishing for simplifying the daunting process of publication, and doing so in such a pleasant and humane manner.

The generous contributions of the Curt Rommel-Stiftung and the University of Berne deserve my sincere thanks.

I dedicate this publication to my parents, Hans and Yolanda Reinhard-Hess, and to the parents of my wife, John and Mary Virginia DeRoo-Morgan.
